EUC: MODERN WORKSPACE ADVISORY SERVICE

Give your users the freedom to thrive in a secure way

Do you have the right workspace strategy - to balance your company's performance and security needs with your end-users' demand for new apps, consumer devices and easier access?

Traditional EUC is under pressure

The modern workspace is changing fast. The idea of locking down end-user computing (EUC) to specific tools is being challenged. Today's workforce requires greater mobility and collaboration. But where should you draw the line with unmanaged apps, BYOD and access?

Find out with a FREE Bytes Modern Workspace Advisory Service. You'll get expert, vendor-agnostic advice and insights on how to create a future-proof End User Computing strategy.

Optimise your workspace for the future

With the Bytes Modern Workspace Advisory Service, you'll get valuable answers - free of charge.

Discover & Assess

- Explore the capabilities and limits of your EUC environment, including platforms & workspace, applications & data, and mobility management
- Better understand your users' profiles and behaviours
- Gather and analyse user data on compute and application usage

Envision & Validation

- Assess the implications of VDI/WVD, BYOD, Windows migrations, application delivery and centralised management
- Get a tailored report with recommendations for the right modern workspace across the EUC stack to meet your long-term requirements for greater efficiency, mobility and agile working

Deliver & Adopt

- Proof-of-concept, user experience days and technology show cases to gain buy-in from across the business and confirm the chosen EUC path
- Provide a variety of services to support organisations once they get to an operational state

Move forward with confidence

With our expert insights, you can make confident, well-informed decisions on how to deliver a modern workspace that will meet your company's ongoing needs, operationally and commercially.
