

Bytes PHISHING MANAGED SERVICE

With the IT security threat landscape constantly evolving the human firewall has become ever more important. Testing, Training and awareness will protect your business.

That's where Sophos comes in

As a consistent Gartner recognised leader in security you can feel safe that Sophos is constantly evolving to keep up with the very latest threats in the ever-changing threat landscape. Sophos can provide, Phishing testing, training and staff awareness which you can use to protect your business.

The Managed Services Approach

Here at Bytes we appreciate that having access to skilled and experienced engineers can often be cost prohibitive and with the threat landscape ever evolving its essential you have the best people to hand. That's where we can help.

Using Sophos' Phish Threat we can help design and deliver targeted phishing campaigns into your company to identify which employees are most susceptible to various phishing campaigns. From there we can help report and identify which employees then need further security training and can help continuously monitor throughout the year on either a monthly or quarterly basis.

Package Offerings

Our managed Phish Threat services gives your business the ability to test your staff's awareness of phishing on a monthly, quarterly or biannual basis. With our campaign service we work with you to develop a relevant phishing campaign and build the staff training around how your business works to support and develop phishing awareness.

You receive all the benefits above plus: A Sophos engineer working with you to;

- Develop your testing strategy
- Run your Phishing assessments
- Calculate your approach to staff training
- Highlight your risky users
- Provide detailed reporting
- Working on either a monthly or quarterly campaign
