SECURITY ASSESSMENT OFFERINGS

Bytes Software Services and Longwall Security

The Challenge

Today more than ever, the goal of complete cyber security remains a moving target, with many organisations struggling to cover the basics, let alone keep pace with the relentless innovation of cyber attackers and security solutions. If the myriad threat vectors and corresponding security technologies were not already daunting enough, IT and security professionals regularly face internal challenges of budget and time constraints, a lack of coherent policy and C-level buy-in, and generally poor levels of security awareness among users.

The Threats

Fundamentally, the threats remain the same as ever:

> Cyber criminals seeking to extract financial reward through denial of service, ransomware, and good old-fashioned selling of information to 3rd parties

> Rogue employees or ex-employees committing data theft and/or sabotage for competitive advantage or malicious intent

> Unintentional loss of data or accidental damage to critical IT infrastructure

The Risks

The business risks remain broadly the same too - loss of Intellectual Property, loss of Business Continuity, Reputational Damage - but with two distinctly tangible recent additions:

> Ransom fees, payable for release of data encrypted by Ransomware

> Fines of up to €20M or 4% of turnover for loss of personal data as defined by the EU General Data Protection Regulation
